

Outline of presentation: Small unmanned mobile mapping systems - New opportunities for the profession

Unmanned vehicle-based mapping systems are becoming the latest geomatics tools for collecting 3D geospatial data for 3D mapping and other geospatial applications. This presentation will address the platforms, navigation and mapping sensors, and data processing methods and will demonstrate how these technological developments are causing a paradigm shift in the field of geomatics.