

Kent Groh – Host of Geoholics & Moderator for Geospatial Experts Panel

Kent is a highly experienced professional land surveyor with over 30 years of experience. He has devoted his career to the surveying profession and developed a reputation for his technical expertise, attention to detail, and commitment to high-quality deliverables for his clients. Over the years he has worked on a wide range of projects ranging from small-scale land surveys to large-scale infrastructure development projects. He has a complete understanding of the latest surveying techniques and keeps up to date with the latest geospatial technologies. Throughout his career Kent has remained committed to professional development and continuing education and is generous with his time remaining active in several professional organizations and is the founder and host of The Geoholics podcast.